

Dear CTSA Students -

As we enter the second week of the winter quarter, we wanted to acknowledge this difficult time that is impacting our community.

We know that some of you may have family and friends who are affected and some of you may be directly experiencing displacement caused by the fires. We recognize that focusing in class may be challenging for our students and faculty. We are here to support you and want to share a few resources that are available to you as we continue to navigate these challenging times:

- Review the UCI Campus Assist list for information about specific campus and community resources you can use depending on your need.
- Share resources for victims of the wildfires with your social network
  - The Mutual Aid Los Angeles Network \(MALAN\) has an extensive list!
- For campus mental health and wellness resources, visit <https://counseling.uci.edu/resources/resources-for-students/>.
- Communicate with your faculty and campus staff if you need help
  - The Student Success Initiatives Office has put together a free email template that you can work from to notify your faculty if you are in crisis and need their support. Click on the blue "M" on the left side of the doc to auto-generate a Gmail message.

If you need more guidance or additional assistance, we invite you to reach out to us in Arts Student Affairs so we can connect you to resources on campus. Please know that we are here to support you.

Stay safe and take care.

Best regards,

The Arts Student Affairs Team
