This course is for computer programmers who want to learn how to program effectively for audio and music applications. We'll primarily be using the Max programming environment and the Web Audio API. Ability to program in some language is required (C, C++, Python, Java, Max, JavaScript, etc.). You can see last year's website (syllabus, assignments, etc.) here: <https://canvas.eee.uci.edu/courses/24521>

Spotlight: UCI Music PhD Students

- UCI Jordan Center for Persian Studies and Culture is proud to announce the release of Kooch-e Khaman, the live concert recording of the Del Sol String Quartet performing compositions by young Iranian Composers, including UC Irvine Music PhD students Hesam Abedini, Adib Ghorbani, and Niloufar Shiri. We are proud to celebrate the contributions of our Music PhD students to this project. Please see their spotlight link for more information:
