

Dear Drama Majors,

Please see the announcements below.

Music Theatre Workshop Auditions for Winter 2022 (Drama Undergrads)

Reply-to: Myrona DeLaney (mldelane@uci.edu)

Hi All:

Please see attachment for further information on upcoming Music Theatre Workshop Auditions for Winter 2022.

Thank you,

Drama Dept.

Drama Majors - Winter Enrollment

To view the list of approved DRAMATIC LITERATURE courses for Winter 2022, click here.

Reply-to: artscounselor@uci.edu for Winter '22 enrollment questions.

The Intersection: Woke Black Folk 11/18/21

Reply-to: Zachary Price PhD zachary.price@uci.edu

Join us for The Intersection: Woke Black Folk on Thursday, November 18 at 7 pm in the Little Theatre (FREE, RSVP)

https://zotmail.oit.uci.edu/RTE_uploads/16/TheIntersectionF21.pdf

The Intersection: Woke Black Folk is a stage play on the complexities of Black political identity and a story about how humans navigate difference. This project has been met with critical acclaim by thinkers and artists such as Angela Davis and Erykah Badu. It premiered at the Pan African Film and Arts Festival in Los Angeles as the featured theatrical production in March 2018 and has since toured internationally -- staging in venues and universities across the U.S., England, the Netherlands, France and Brazil. This one-woman show calls into question the partisanship and groupthink that often inform discussions about social justice today. As an astute observer puts it, "How does Fagbamila's staging, claiming, theorizing, and embodying of contradictory perspectives create room in an otherwise claustrophobic political landscape?"

For any questions, please contact Zachary Price PhD zachary.price@uci.edu

Register for FREE here: <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/the-intersection-woke-black-folk-tickets-191941741917>

Call for Drama Students - UCI Law Nov. 18th

Reply-to: Emily Gengler egengler@uci.edu

Judge Richard Lee at UCI Law is recruiting 25 students to participate in a Nov. 18th Trial Advocacy class at UCI Law (4:15—6:15 pm), with hired students performing the roles of various potential Jurors. Pay for the two hours is in the form of a $30 gift card to the UCI Bookstore/The Hill. Please see the Handshake posting here: <https://uci.joinhandshake.com/jobs/5525032>

If interested, please submit your application or inquiries of the position directly to Emily Gengler at egengler@uci.edu .

Thank you!

Emily Gengler

Faculty Assistant

949.824.2123

University of California = Irvine | School of Law

Suite 3800 | Irvine, CA 92697